From The President

“If you don’t define yourself, someone else will do it for you.” A seasoned pastor passed that bit of wisdom on to me several years ago. Living outside the United States definitely made that adage come to life. Neighbors, colleagues, friends and acquaintances in the different places we lived all had some preconceived notion of who we were as Americans, even before they met us. Therefore, we had to be intentional in defining ourselves first and foremost as followers of Jesus. Doing so required time, presence, hospitality, generosity, mercy and grace worked out in daily life. It wasn’t easy, glamorous, exciting, or quick. But it was deeply satisfying to see people begin to change the way they viewed us and our Lord.

It’s terribly unfortunate that evangelicals have allowed others to define us in the United States. Not that we don’t deserve it. For over forty years high profile, media savvy, preachers and leaders who call themselves evangelicals have taken it upon themselves to define us primarily as social and political conservatives. What a travesty and tragedy.

Let’s resolve to reestablish our identity as people of the gospel, those who Peter reminds us in 1 Peter 2:10 “once were not a people, but now are the people of God.” Our primary identity is not based on our citizenship, race, or political party. We are first and foremost the people of God whose primary loyalty and passion are directed toward the Lord Jesus. All other identities, loyalties and passions must be subsumed in our lives or they become idolatries.

In the last few days before the November elections, let’s make sure that everyone who knows us, everyone who might read our social media accounts, and everyone who could look at our checking accounts would know for sure who we are and where our true loyalty lies (Mark 12:17).

This year the Grounds Institute of Public Ethics will focus on the theme of Power, Politics, and Christian Faith. This year's program is a 2-day, combined event featuring the Kent Mathews Lectures and the Rally for the Common Good. The lectures will be delivered by Richard J. Mouw, PhD, President Emeritus and Professor of Faith and Public Life at Fuller Theological Seminary

Dr. Mouw will reflect on the following topics:

- The Power of the Gospel and Political Power
- Christian Citizenship in Confused and Confusing Times
- The Political Authority of Jesus Christ

The Kent Matthew's presentation will be made during the Seminary's chapel service on October 3rd and 4th which begins each of the two days at 11:00 a.m. The Rally for the Common Good will be held on October 3, from 6:30 p.m.- 8:00 p.m. in the Denver Seminary Chapel.

We extend a cordial invitation to you to attend the lectures. For more information, visit denverseminary.edu/KentMatthews2016

Q Commons Denver

You are invited to join 250 remarkable local church and cultural leaders at Denver Seminary for Q Commons Denver from 7:00–9:00PM on Thursday evening, October 13th. This special event will link over 150 cities and 25,000 people for an important conversation about engaging our culture as Christians to advance the common good.

Our nation's and Denver's most respected thought leaders including Dr. Ravi Zacharias (Apologist and Author), Kirsten Powers (Political Commentator), and Lecrae (Grammy Award winning Hip Hop Artist) will join via LIVE downlink. Our local speakers include Bennie Milliner (Denver's Road Home) and Kelli Woodard (African Community Center), who will educate and stimulate your thinking on how we as Christ followers can participate in helping Denver flourish.

See official event website here: www.qcommons.com/Denver

Network for Alumni

This is a space and time for professional and ministry partners to spark new connections and offer support to one another. Whether you are looking for professional or personal growth, service opportunities, creative ideas, or ways to grow your contacts, you will benefit from this time spent with like-minded Denver Seminary alumni.

Network for Alumni groups are meeting in Littleton, Broomfield and Colorado Springs (see sidebar for dates and times). Send us an email if you have an interest in starting a group in your area.

Alumni Updates:

James M. Christensen, MA Practical Theology, 1978

Rev James M. Christensen passed away on the morning of August 16, 2016. He was 79 years old, born on May 1, 1937. He served as president of the Heaven and Home Hour for 38 years, during which time he served on the board of the National Religious Broadcasters, retiring in 2011. He continued in ministry for another four years until health issues brought another retirement.

At an early age he would listen to the broadcast of the Heaven and Home Hour from his home in Iowa. Then it was at the 1963 Billy Graham Crusade in Los Angeles that he accepted the Lord - the same time that he heard the call into ministry, which he followed until his death.

During several Billy Graham crusades in the 1980's and throughout his many years of ministry with Heaven and Home Hour, he traveled the world over for the cause for Christ.

He is survived by two daughters, two sons, eight grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and many friends and family around the world. His wife, Betty, preceded him to glory in 2012.
